Mrs. Gaw's Funeral To Be Held Today its annual roll call last evening at Odd

Brief services for Mrs. Emma Wirt Williams Gaw, wife of the Rev. Ben lamin D. Gaw, pastor of West Wash-ington Baptist Church, who died Tuesday, will be held at the family resi dence, 3006 Cambridge place northwest, today at 10 o'clock. The body will be taken to Richmond. Va., where servces will be held at Immanuel Church at 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Gaw, before her marriage in 965 to Dr. Gaw, was Miss Williams, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. F. daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Williams, of Richmond. She received her education in Richmond College and in the Woman's College of Richmond. She took a post-graduate course in Columbia College, New York, and received the degree of B. A. She occupied the chair of Garman and French at the Woman's College at Richmond. Besides her husband, she is survived by her brother, George Beverly Williams, of Richmond, and a sister, Miss Bertha Williams, of Covington. Ky. She was a member of the board of lady governors of the Children's Home, Broekland. On the day preceding her death she made an address at the quarterly meeting of the Woman's the quarterly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Circle of the Baptist churches of the District.

Equal Rights League.

Fifty colored delegates, representing twenty States, planning a National Equal Rights League, will meet in the John Wesley A. M. E. Zion Church today, tomorrow, and Saturday. Helmet Formerly Frowned On. The United States Government has dways barred the permanent steel helmet, which has been adopted as a part of the equipment of the Euro-pean soldier, from the American army because of a belief that a permanent helmet was an unnecessary burden helmet was an unnecessary burden on the soldier.

Mahan hopes that his helmet will be adopted, however, for, he points out, it is not a permanent headgear and need only be worn while the men are under actual fire.

The new helmet would not do away with the present campaign hat. It is made of crucible steel and resembles the grocer's sugar scoop.

When marching, the helmet could be carried as a part of the equipment, and while in camp it could be used handliy as a digger, bailer, or even as a mess kit, Mahan believes.

Would Protect Head.

Although Mahan does not assert that his helmet ever would do away with the regular trench-digging tools, he points out that in battle his helmet would protect the head and neck, and still not do away with the campaign

Mahan was a first class gunner in the United States Coast Artillery from 1905 to 1908. He has followed the recent ex-periences of the European soldiers with interest, and six months ago hit upon the plan of a combination helmet, which his own countrymen might use without doing away with the campaign hat, which army men believe will always be worn in the United States army.

GUARD RELIEF BODY

Dissolve Organization At Meeting Today.

The Citizens' Welfare Association, for the relief of local guardsmen's dependents, will dissolve its organisation at a meeting of the entire association at the Willard at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Alice L. Stuart, who has directed the work of relief, will present her report, as will John Dolph, president of the association. It is expected that twelve families the are not benefited by the appropriation act will be turned over to the Woman's Relief Association and the First Separate Battalion Relief As-

First Separate Battallon Relief Association.

These families, while needing the help of the Government, cannot receive it, because the provision states that only wives, mothers, and children dependent on the guardsmen are eligible. This does not provide for needy aunts, grandmothers, or other relatives. Several such relatives must, be assisted.

The welfare offices close tonight. For the past week no help has been given financially, although there have been several applications.
